

A Pluralistic analysis on Inequalities and Well-being: the EoF perspective.

The 2024 STOREP Annual Conference focuses on “Why Inequalities Grow: Value and Distribution in the History of Economic Thought”. The Economy of Francesco's community has always committed to fighting inequalities, elaborating possible strategies for reducing them and improving, in turn, individual and collective well-being. We feel that we can provide a relevant contribution to this topic.

So, we warmly invite the EoF research fellows (but also other scholars who belong to the broader EoF community) to submit an abstract for this joint session with STOREP to offer a pluralistic perspective – without any limits about the methodological approach adopted- on the issue of inequalities and well-being inspired by EoF principles.

We invite interested scholars to submit an abstract (400 words max., keywords) by March 20, 2024, to scientificboard@francescoeconomy.org.

The 21st STOREP conference will be at the Università degli Studi di Milano, Dipartimento di Studi Storici, June 27-29, 2024
<https://www.storep.org/wp/21st-storep-annual-conference-27-29-june-2024/>

Session organizer:

Valentina Erasmo, Università di Torino. “EoF Academy” Research Fellow